I am a passionate and driven full-stack developer with a passion for open-source and strongly typed programming languages. Doing my masters in algorithms at UiB alongside being a part-time developer at Islandgarden. I am a hobby project fanatic, there's always one to many project in my head. I care about the student environment at informatics and I'm active in a host of student run organizations and projects. In my spare time I enjoy long runs, long evenings playing board games and a good beer.
